ans for you email! It was really cool to read about your favourite school club.

Yes, I definitely participate in after-school activities!

I'm a member of our school's Robotics Club, and it's fantastic.

We meet twice a week, usually on Tuesdays and Thursdays, for about two hours each time. What we do there is incredibly exciting: we design, build, and programme robots from scratch. We use various kits and components, learning about mechanics, electronics, and coding languages like Python. We often prepare our robots for inter-school competitions, which are super intense but a lot of fun!

I would absolutely recommend it to a friend, especially if they enjoy problem-solving and hands-on challenges. It's a great way to learn practical skills in engineering and technology which are so important nowadays. Plus, working in teams teaches you a lot about cooperation, and there's a real sense of achievement when your robot finally works as planned. It's challenging but very rewarding!

1. _____ The Cooper's Hill Cheese-Rolling is an unusual event that takes place every spring in the English countryside. It might seem like a crazy modern stunt, but its origins are ancient, possibly dating back to Roman times. Nobody knows for sure how it started.

2. _____ On the day of the festival, a large round of Double Gloucester cheese is rolled from the very top of a steep hill. Then, dozens of competitors race down the hill after it. The first person to cross the finish line at the bottom wins the cheese. The hill is so steep that most participants simply tumble down, end over end.

3. _____ It may look like pure madness, but it's a serious competition for the participants. The winner gains not only the cheese but also great local fame. For the small community, it's an important tradition that brings people together and celebrates their history.

4. _____ Despite its popularity, the event has faced challenges in recent years. The main concern is safety. Every year, several people get injured. For this reason, the official organization has sometimes tried to cancel it, but local enthusiasts always keep the tradition alive.

5. _____ Thanks to the internet, videos of the cheese-rolling have become famous worldwide. People from all over the globe now travel to England to take part in or watch this unique and thrilling event.

Task 3. Read the text again. Are the statements (6-10) True (T), False (F) or Not Stated (NS)?

1. The Cheese-Rolling festival takes place in summer.
2. The cheese used in the race is specially made for the event.
3. The competitors run down the hill after the cheese.
